Master Philosophy, Politics and Economics

Does globalization undermine social solidarity? Does populism threaten our democracies? How do we encourage corporate social responsibility? And how can we rise to the threat of climate change?

Our world today faces complex challenges that cannot be tackled by one discipline alone. We need an approach that cuts across boundaries. Our selective Master's in PPE offers a truly integrated approach that combines tools and methods from philosophy, economics and political theory.

- › Develop your knowledge, analytical skills, critical thinking and writing to contribute to today's society
- › Personal supervision and mentoring in a friendly atmosphere
- › Taught by leading and dedicated researchers
- › Study at a faculty known for its excellent world-leading research
- › International classroom
- › We offer two talent grants of €5000 to the most talented non-EU/EEA students; all non-EU/EEA students will receive a faculty scholarship of 50%
